first asked for, Govt stated that it was objectionable in principle to grant any allowance. The matter was again brought up before Govt and Govt ordered that ~~each~~ the Chairman of the Bench at Bangalore & Mysore may be paid a Conveyance allowance of Rs 250/- (Govt Order 826-3-12) The same allowance is now claimed by the other members on the ground that the work turned out by the members does not differ from that of the Chairman.

2 The proposal involves a large increase of recurring expenditure

Exclusive of the Chairman to whom a Carriage allowance of Rs 30/- has already been sanctioned, the number of Magistrates to whom payments will have to be made will be only two throughout the year. Maximum extra expenditure involved is therefore Rs 60/- per mensem or perhaps 720 per Annum and a similar amount for Bangalore. It may be noted that the Bench Magistrates of Mysore are prepared to have a Gat Carriage in lieu of any allowance.

It will be seen that in the first instance the grant of the allowance was considered objectionable on principle not to speak of the extreme importance of keeping down recurring expenditure and that accordingly it was refused. On a further representation from the Dt Magistrate, Bangalore, H. H. the Maharaja was graciously pleased to sanction the allce to the chairman of the Benches. It is now urged that a similar allce may be granted to all the members. In the C & M station, only the chairman is given the allce. Attention is respectfully invited to the H. 14. In my humble opinion the fact that repeated applns. for this kind of allce is made shews that the cities are not yet ripe for the institution of Hony. Magistracy.

15. In any case it is not clear why the Chairman's conveyance maintained out of the Conveyance allce of Rs 207- paid by the State should not be available to the other Magistrates also for coming to & going from office three days in the week.

19 I adhere to the opinion that further allowances need not be sanctioned. It is not at all unreasonable to expect that the Chairman's carriage maintained from the conveyance allowance of Rs 30/- should be sufficient for all the three members of the bench.
